

If business relationships have been established, this should serve as consent for active communications.